

"But Only God Can Make a Tree"

Things, like people, leave their imprints on the mind, actions and an association of individuals. To so many the Weeping Willow meant so much.

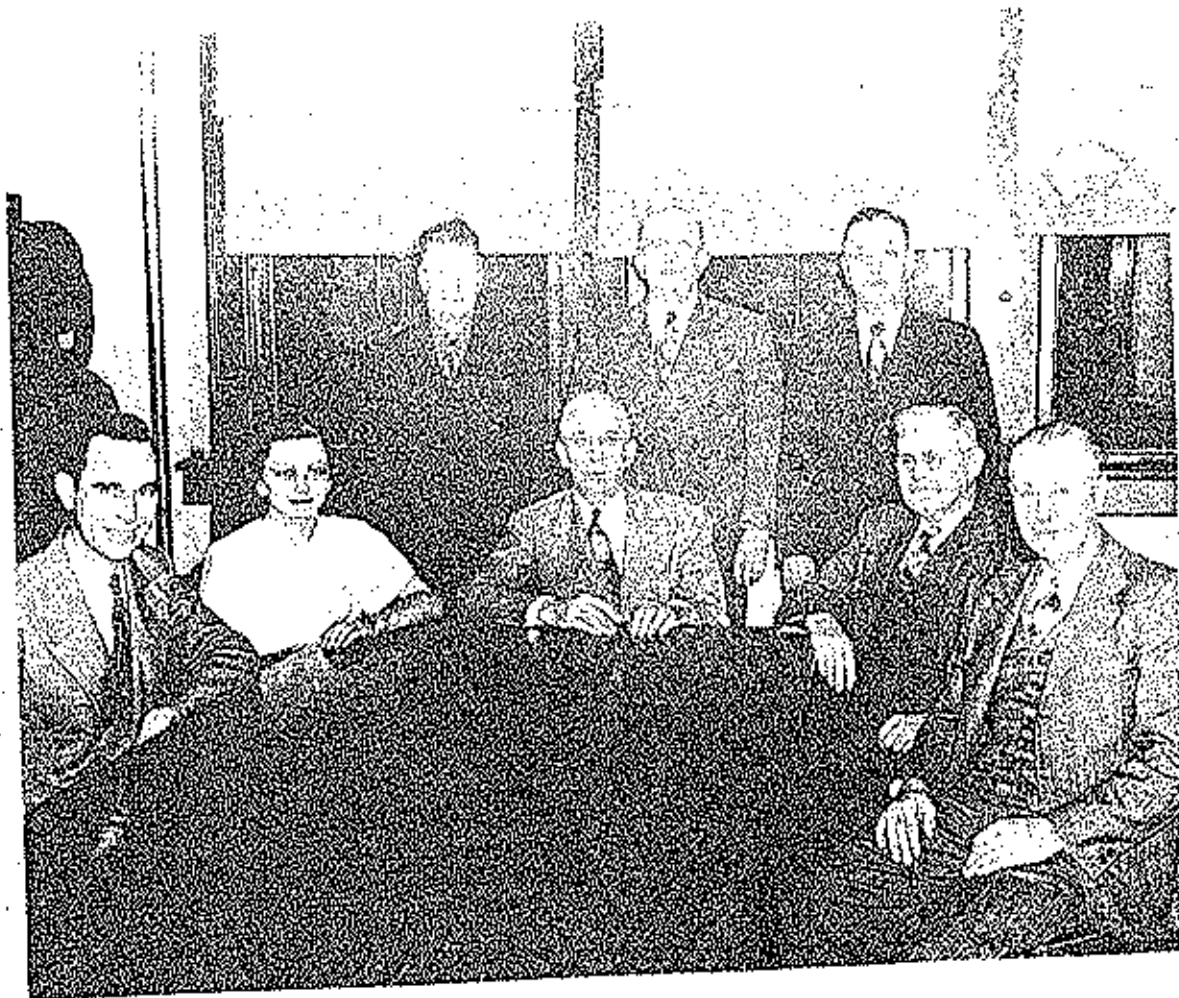

Nurtured by deep roots in the soil, by the sun and air and water, it grew ever upward and outward. Silent, but sturdy and majestic, it attracted each passerby. Ironically the same forces of nature which properly controlled brought its destruction. Time has not dimmed its glory.

The Weeping Willow is symbolic. We draw strength from many sources. We cast our vision upward and extend our service outward. We, too, shall leave this campus but our influence will linger on.

To the memory of the Weeping Willow and its symbolism, we dedicate the 1950 Referet.
