Travis's Tragedy

"I heard his leg completely broke in half, like the bones were poking out and he needed major surgery. I also heard he was faking the whole thing."

"Travis was at the assembly and wanted to be a show off even though his leg was broken and he was supposed to stay off of it. He was first out and took three steps, mishandled the ball, and tried to get it under control. When he tried to keep running, he collapsed, and his bone was sticking out of his leg."

"He went down like a rag doll, yelling in pain. That's what I heard, but I wasn't there. I skipped the assembly."

Dragged Dog

"Actually the girl that did it is my friend. She tried to swerve around it and it was surprised and ran under her car. But some people told me she was angry and ran over it in a rage."

"This bad driver hit a dog, and it got stuck under her front bumper. It was all bloody and half alive when she got to school."

"I told a couple of girls who were looking at the dog that it was Coach Moore's. It was funny because they started to cry."

The Wheel on The Bus Went Pop!

"I heard that the bus was on a highway and the tire was bad, so it blew and the bus shook. That's about it."

"I didn't really hear about the cross country bus..."

"I was actually there. The tire on this bus blew, we pulled off the road at an angle, and the bus started to roll, almost killing us all."

SENIOR SLUMPS

"I know that is a bunch of babney. They're a bunch of LOSERS! If they had any sense at all they would take pride in their sport and team. I did hear they were all in a car crash, but what are the odds?"

"Seniors are wimps!"

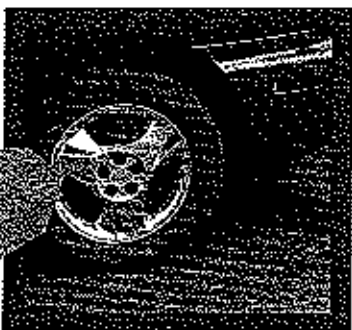

"Cassy Parkhurst was in a drug-induced coma because they gave him so much pain medication after he got hurt. Sarah Cox broke her ankle, and she might never be able to run again."

Setting the Story Straight

"I was chosen to play the basketball relay game at the assembly and was first in line. I took two steps, and on the third step I took, SNAP! It didn't hurt much at all until the paramedics started to pull on it."

-Travis Thompson, sophomore

"When I was driving to school one day, there were like three or four dogs in the road. Well, then one decided it wanted to run in front of me as I started to slow down. Then as I was swerving to miss it, the dog ran the same way as I swerved. After I hit it, I didn't realize it was under my car, until someone had said something about it. It was the most harrid experience of my life."

-Lyndsy Murphy, sophomore

"Somewhere between Iberia and Tuscombua I noticed an irregularity in the 'normal' vibrations that usually accompanied us. Patrick Smith was in the middle of a very lengthy story of no significance when I interrupted to ask him if he thought there was something wrong with the bus. Agreeing, we decided to stop and look at the tires, but there was no shoulder or road in which to do this. Continuing on in a much slower fashion, we progressed down the road. Several members of the team were taking naps in the seats when POW, the front left side of the bus took a sharp decline and attempted to pull us into the other lane of traffic. Luckily, working out with my team had given me super human strength with which I pulled the bus off of the road and onto the non-existent shoulder. My fearless runners did not even scream when awoken so violently from their naps, but calmly exited the bus and quickly found pieces of the blown tire to keep as a memento of the harrowing experience. We made it home safely and eventually so did our special bus."

-Coach Harwood

"Being injured in the middle of my senior year has been the hardest trial of my life, thus far. Having wanted to play college football, my chance of having an athletic scholarship was slim to none, but during my downtime, I realized I wanted to pursue my dream in the arts instead of living a lie playing football. In a way it's the best thing that could have happened to me at the time."

-Casey Parkhurst, senior

"We were in the first round of the Tipton tournament and everything was going well. We were ahead by ten points and there was only a couple of minutes left in the game. Then it happened. I went up for a simple jump shot and came down on someone's foot. My ankle rolled under, and I was in the most excruciating pain I have ever experienced. I was slightly freaked out when they took off my shoe and I discovered that my ankle had already swelled to about double the size it normally is. I later found out that I had torn three ligaments and fractured a couple of bones, an injury that would keep me off of the court for the next two months, if not longer."

-Tiffany Blain, sophomore

"I like these pants because I tie dyed them myself, and they express my individuality. If everyone were the same, the world would be a boring place."
-Katarina Crook, sophomore

"I feel my shoes show that I am a very person who people are stylish."

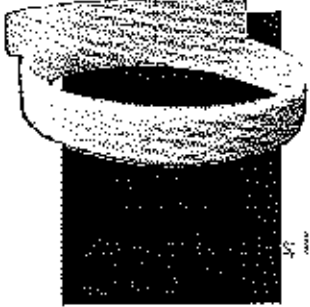

"I wear these pointy shoes in case anyone makes me mad. Okay, really. The pair look good under jeans, and white matches everything. Plus, they make my outfit 'click.'"

AFTER HOURS

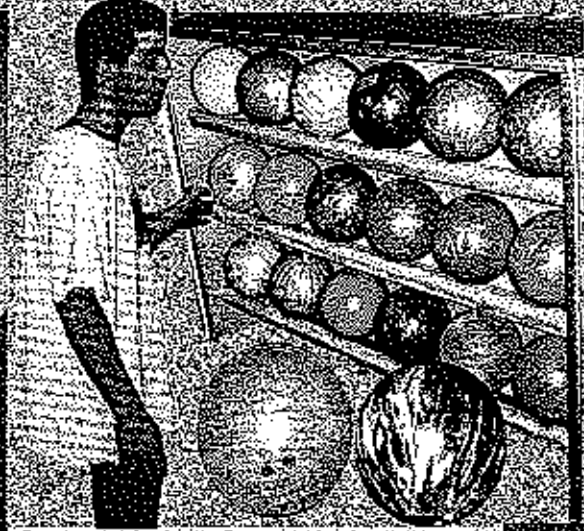

"Ever since I was three years old, I wanted to be a wrestler, and now I can say I am a wrestler. Fifteen years and $3,000 later, I am a WLW superstar! The hardest part of being a wrestler is the falls. Mess up once, and it's right outta you!"

Bowling at the local alley could be a way to ease the stress after a long day at school. Ben Porter, senior, likes to bowl while he is not working at the alley.

Being part of a garage band can take a lot of free time. Senior Austin White plays the drums at his house as his band prepares to play at the Battle of the Bands.

THE BIG SHOW

On the morning of November 20 I woke up and instantly felt butterflies. The feelings of excitement and nervousness were overwhelming. I couldn't wait to start the show at about 7 o'clock that night. We were the opening band and it was our first "real" show. Doing this show would be a dream come true to all of us in the band. I was very excited.

At about 6:00 or 6:20 PM, people started piling into Shemmes. The place was soon full, which added to the excitement and nervousness. The large crowd patiently waited for our arrival to the stage.

Around 7 o'clock we gathered outside and had a pep talk. The show would soon start and we were ready. We entered the building and approached the stage. The crowd went quiet, the lights went down and I strapped on my guitar.

We had this low-keyed scene introduction. I woke up to the rock and screamed "come on" and the show was on. Throughout our six songs, I heard hands singing along, saw people jumping and felt everyone's support. It was a truly amazing experience.

Even before you're fully grown surrounded by music, so it was no surprise when at 8 months you discovered a toy piano and it became your favorite toy. You would sit in your chair and pound the keys one at a time, and you would make the pitch on the cushioning mat. It was at that time we foster Dad had showed you with the gift of music - a gift that can never be taken away. Follow your heart and your dreams as you go forth beyond high school. We will support you in whatever path you choose. We love you and are so proud of you.

Our Kids

The blue in your eyes,
The blond of your hair,
The wrinkles of your nose when you smile,
The lull in your heart,
The strength of your soul,
Some started as a little girl,
Some as you have grown,
But through all it has shown

An impression to many, a bliss to all,
You are one of the greatest forms of
Our life, and we thank you great and small.
As we progress, so are you growing,
A great reward part of our job is done,
Yours is just beginning. We love you and wish you all the best life has for you.

long way. May all your dreams
come true!

Love you,
Mom

Dear Mark,

I always told you that July 1, 1986, when you were chosen to be my second son, was one of the happiest days of my life. School years hold great memories. I'm going to be lonely when you move to Kirksville, and yet it's what you've worked so hard for. I know you'll have fun, and I want you to. Where do you want me to store all of the Paris Hilton pictures?

Love You Forever,
Mom & Dad

My sweet Lydia,

I have so many memories as I look back over the years. I want to hold on to you and at the same time let you fly high and free. You have such spirit and character of your own. I am so proud of the dreams you have and the strength to make those dreams come true. Your world is bright and bursting with possibilities. It is so easy to remember your first steps and how you would hold my hand. As each year passes, you take more steps. Some will eventually lead you away from me, but always remember that my hand and heart will be here for you forever. You will always be my precious daughter, but I have also discovered a son and precious friend in you. You are one of life's greatest gifts, and I love you so much.

Mom

You have worked hard to get where you are and we are very proud of you.

Good luck in college!

We love you,
Mom, Dad, & Timberly
